The Float by Lain Iwakura - Sample

Key Points 8

It's possible to boil down all deep introspection to a single point: The Trickster is Allah. All the brutalizing of myself I have done through my years of tears or words or the language of Nor has led myself to the deepest conclusion possible of this one conclusion. There is nothing I must know yet still I spoke until I died without the regret I hadn't given up my words at last. I am the one who is God.
